Team as a Service

Our experienced team of European and Vietnamese developers, offers what you would expect: Western quality and communication standards in combination with competitive trained developers, scale and rates. Team as a Service is the dream package for any partner.

As a provider of a full-scale Team as a Service, our priority is towards our clientele, in an age where agility and cooperation is essential. Our business model exemplifies such matters to provide rapid scalability to your business, in a long-term supporting contract. Our in-house team focuses on the values of your business while maintaining granular-level input and control over the final product.

We invest in getting to know your company and your IT needs so that we as a team can proactively advise on the project. Our premium and unique partnership is guaranteed to advance your business to new heights.

Our senior developers have grown to become vital to leading your team. They are highly qualified in the processes and standards utilised to develop and transcend your projects requirements. Alongside our technical team, we provide experienced project management to ensure your concerns over the distance of your team are eliminated from the process.

Your own team?

Software company, advertising agency or Internet company? You can set up your own hybrid team with our Dutch and Vietnamese offices starting with contracts from 6 months. We always have fitting candidates in PHP, JAVA, C++, HTML/CSS and JavaScript.
